

In the News

Siblings Mae Facello and sister Fran Foley, Bill Crosno and sister Juanita Carr, Mary Ann Wheeler and sister Virginia Strickland Walker, and Lorene and Lenora Anthony are all residents at Silvercreek Senior Living in Olive Branch.

OLIVE BRANCH

5 sibling sets call Silvercreek home

By Linda Bourassa
Special to The Weekly

Nobody said it quite like baseball great, Yogi Berra: “It’s like déjà vu all over again!”

The past repeats itself at Silvercreek Senior Living Community in Olive Branch, where five sets of siblings find themselves living happily under the same roof.

Virginia Strickland Walker and her sister Mary Ann Wheeler have apartments near each other. They enjoy their fun time at meals together. According to Virginia, “The food is fabulous and the employees are great.”

Fran Foley and her sister Mae Facello are from Sardis and as Fran says, “I love her dearly. Glad she and I are together. She has a great sense of humor and is very witty.” They especially enjoy the Bingo parties at Silvercreek.

Juanita Carr and her brother William Crosno

Sisters Mazie Vinson and sister Juanita “Sissy” Olsteen enjoy living together at Silvercreek Senior Living in Olive Branch.

each have apartments at Silvercreek. William and his wife Dorothy are happy to be so near Juanita and especially enjoy the afternoons with her. Meals together are a special time and bring back sweet memories of their childhood.

Mazie Vinson and elder sister, Juanita Olsteen, lived in the tri-state area most of their lives. Born in Jonesboro, Ark., they grew up in the Collierville area, and then moved back to Stuttgart, Ark. With a younger brother living in the Memphis, it made sense that the sisters would relocate to be near family. They now enjoy apartments near each other.

Sisters Lenora Anthony and Lorene Anthony were married to brothers and lived most of their lives in the Germantown/Collierville area. Now that they have apartments just down the hall from each other and they can have their meals together and visit any time they like. In true “sisters” fashion, Lenora notes that her older sister Lorene is “... loving and thoughtful. And always the boss!”

Linda K. Bourassa is the president of Blue Moon, Inc. marketing and public relations.